

BACKACHE, RHEUMATISM

Dear Mr. Editor:

For a long time I suffered from backache, pain in left side, frequent urination (bothering me at all times during the day and night), and the uric acid in my blood caused me to suffer from rheumatism along with a constant tired, worn-out feeling. I heard of the new discovery of Dr. Pierce's of the Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y., called "Anuric." After giving "Anuric" a good trial I believe it to be the best kidney remedy on the market today. I have tried other kidney medicines but these "Anuric Tablets" of Dr. Pierce's are the only ones that will cure kidney and bladder troubles.

(Signed) HENRY A. LGVE.
NOTE:—Experiments at Dr. Pierce's Hospital for several years proved that "Anuric" is 37 times more active than lithia. Send Dr. Pierce 10c for trial package.

Not So Much.
"My name is Jones and I'm from New York," announced the traveler to the keeper of a hotel in Minot, N. D. "That's funny," remarked the landlord. "I know a man by that name out in Butte, Mont."

Whereupon the New Yorker realized that this is indeed a small world and that he was about the smallest thing in it.

"CASCARETS" ACT ON LIVER, BOWELS

No sick headache, biliousness, bad taste or constipation by morning.

Get a 10-cent box.

Are you keeping your bowels, liver, and stomach clean, pure and fresh with Cascarets, or merely forcing a passage every few days with Salts, Cathartic Pills, Castor Oil or Purgative Waters?

Stop having a bowel wash-day. Let Cascarets thoroughly cleanse and regulate the stomach, remove the sour and fermenting food and foul gases, take the excess bile from the liver and carry out of the system all the constipated waste matter and poisons in the bowels.

A Cascaret to-night will make you feel great by morning. They work while you sleep—never gripe, sicken or cause any inconvenience, and cost only 10 cents a box from your store. Millions of men and women take a Cascaret now and then and never have Headache, Biliousness, Coated Tongue, Indigestion, Sour Stomach or Constipation. Adv.

Careful St. Jo. Mothers Treat Children's Colds Externally

They Say Internal Dosing Harms Delicate Little Stomachs—"Outside" Applications Better.

Careful mothers everywhere realize that internal medicines are injurious to the delicate stomachs of the little folks. Still croup and cold troubles must have some form of treatment. The answer to this problem is the Southern "external" treatment Vap-O-Rub. This was introduced in St. Jo., Mo., for the first time last winter, and a number of ladies were presented with complimentary jars by their druggists on condition that they give Vap-O-Rub a thorough test. Here are the reports from several of these ladies:

Mrs. Sam House, 1206 Prospect Ave., writes:—"My little daughter had Diphtheria last fall, and now every little cold she takes settles in her throat. We have thought twice she was going to have Diphtheria again, but during one of her bad spells my druggist sent me a jar of Vap-O-Rub. I used it for four nights on her throat with such good results that now I don't like to be without it. I have used it on myself and my husband for bad colds and have found it just fine."

Every Spring most people feel "all out of sorts"—their vitality is at a low ebb. Through the winter months the blood becomes surcharged with poisons! The best Spring medicine and tonic is one made of herbs and roots without alcohol—that was first discovered by Dr. Pierce years ago—made of Golden Seal root, blood root, &c., called Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. Ingredients on wrapper. It eliminates disease-breeding poisons from the blood, makes the blood rich and pure, furnishes a foundation for sound health.

YOUR GRAY, FADED OR GRAY-STREAKED

HAIR EVENLY DARKENED WITHOUT DYES

Do this: Apply like a shampoo Q-Ban Hair Color Restorer to your hair and scalp, and dry hair in sunlight. A few applications like this turn all your gray, faded, dry or gray-streaked hair to an even, beautiful dark shade. Q-Ban also makes scalp and entire head of hair healthy, so all your hair (whether gray or not) is left soft, fluffy, lustrous, wavy, thick, evenly dark, charming and fascinating, without even a trace of gray hair showing. Insist on having Q-Ban, as it is harmless—no dye—but guaranteed to darken gray hair or money returned. Big bottle 50c at druggists' or sent prepaid. Address Q-Ban, Front St., Memphis, Tenn.—Advertisement.

jar of Vap-O-Rub, which I soon had occasion to try on my "croupy" baby. Before putting her to sleep for the night, I applied the salve over her chest and throat with my fingers. The results proved very satisfactory, and now I would not be without it."

Mrs. M. A. Myers, 2943 Sylvan Ave., says:—"When our three year old boy had a severe cold, about a month ago, I tried a jar of Vap-O-Rub. I rubbed it on his chest and let him inhale it, and he was relieved almost immediately, and got better in a few days. I think your remedy is the best thing for colds we have ever used."

Vick's Vap-O-Rub comes in salve form, and when applied to the heat of the body the ingredients are vaporized by the body warmth. These vapors, inhaled all night long, carry the medication with each breath, through the air passages, to the lungs. Vick's is found better than internal medicine for all forms of cold troubles—from head colds, catarrh and asthmatic bronchitis—down to deep chest colds, bronchitis, sore throat or incipient pneumonia. Three sizes—25c, 50c and $1.00.

TIME IS NOT RIPE

URGING WILSON TO INTERVENE FOR PEACE IN EUROPE IS USELESS.

HE AWAITS AN OPPORTUNITY

Possibility of Ending the War Always in President's Mind, but He Knows the Fighting Nations Are Not Ready to Quit.

By GEORGE CLINTON.

Washington.—From time to time the White House receives petitions from peace and church societies and from organizations which are devoted to sociological endeavor, urging the president to intervene in behalf of peace on the other side of the water. Some months ago these petitions were received in Washington in great numbers. Then for a time comparatively few came, but recently it is said there has been an increase in the size of the peace-petitioning mail bag.

It can be said that the possibility of bringing about peace has been in President Wilson's mind ever since the war began. It is generally believed in Washington, however, that Mr. Wilson feels he cannot take up such a matter at the present time, for unquestionably he thinks the nations engaged in fighting one another would consider such a proposal at this time as something like an impertinence.

Those who seem to know Mr. Wilson's views say he has his eye and heart watching and waiting for a peace-proposing opportunity, but that he has had no illusions on the subject. It can be taken for granted that the president wants to bring about peace for the sake of peace, and, of course, it is natural to suppose he realizes it would be a master stroke for his administration if it were to be the chief instrument in making warring men lay down their arms.

When Japan and Russia were fighting each other twelve years ago, Theodore Roosevelt, who was then president of the United States, found out that both of the warring nations were willing to listen to peace proposals and then he succeeded in bringing about the conference at Portsmouth, N. H., which resulted in the signing of a peace treaty by the two nations.

Not Yet Ready for Peace.

Mr. Roosevelt felt his way toward making his proposals. It seems to be unquestionably true that Mr. Wilson has felt his way likewise in the present instance, but that he has found the way led up against a stone wall. Here is the way one Washington official has put the matter:

"Peace proposals by pacifists, peace ships loaded with amity lovers from how to stern, tracts with the Golden Rule emblazoned on them, the walls of war widows and orphans and all other things born of sympathy and good will, it is felt today by the administration and its advisers, will be of no avail, because of the stern fact that the fighting nations are not ready for peace."

It might be said without much danger of going wrong that the central powers today would be willing to submit to peace negotiations because of their favored position at the present time. Germany and Austria are in possession of Belgium, a part of France, parts of other countries and the whole of some of the smaller states. Therefore Washington recognizes that the central powers are in a good position to be willing that peace should come.

On the other hand, there is every indication that neither the English nor the French, nor the Russians, nor the Italians would look on peace proposals at the present time as anything but proposals to bring to them misfortunes worse than war itself. In other words, the allied countries probably would hold that even to consider peace at this moment would be tantamount to intimating a willingness to give up territory and to stop the war at a loss not only of territory, but of prestige.

Foreign Affairs Political Issue.

For a year and a half after the European war broke out virtually all the members of congress seemed to feel that the diplomatic dealings of this country with the belligerent nations should not be made subjects of partisan debate. This feeling now has passed, to a considerable extent, and the foreign policies of the government are being made the subject of heated discussion in both houses of congress.

The Democrats say the Republicans first made the foreign matters a political issue, and the Republicans retort that the weak methods of handling foreign matters forced over the sea relations into the political field, and that the people, taking the matter for granted, made their senators and representatives follow suit.

Ellihu Root made his speech in New York city at the unofficial convention of the Republican party. He attacked the administration's foreign policy. A few days afterward Senator Lewis of Illinois delivered himself in the senate of an address in support of the administration's diplomatic dealings, and in his speech he charged the Republicans with trying to make political capital out of matters which had no place in politics.

Then came the speech of Senator Lodge, Republican, of Massachusetts, in which he criticized sharply the state department's dealing and, over the shoulder of the state department, the directing influence of President Wilson.

For Public Safety.

The mayor of the city and his cabinet were solemnly considering the problem of safety in the streets. The police commissioner had stated his views and others proposed various legislative measures to control vehicle drivers and pedestrians. Finally it was the turn of the corporation counsel to speak. "I think," he said with judicial calm, "that what we need is an ordinance to make the girls wear longer skirts. Then fewer men would get run over in the streets."

ident Wilson. Senator Sterling of South Dakota also made a speech along the Lodge lines, and both these speeches were similar in spirit to those made by Mr. Root in New York city.

Preparedness Also Political.

The Democrats in the senate countered against the Republican senators with speeches by Senator Stone of Missouri, chairman of the committee on foreign relations, and by John Sharp Williams of Mississippi. Literally the senate has been a forum for give-and-take speeches with diplomacy as its text.

It has been pretty definitely shown by the speeches already made in the house and senate that preparedness is a political issue, even if diplomacy has no such place. It is also shown that neither Democrats nor Republicans seem to feel that in the matter of preparedness they should not talk politics. The reason that preparation for defense has become a political issue is that the Republicans believe in a greater measure of preparedness than do the Democrats, and, therefore, preparedness as a policy has become a party matter.

Compromise on Preparedness?

It seems almost certain today that a military preparedness bill in the form in which it will finally go to the president for his signature will be a compromise between the house measure and the senate measure.

As the country knows pretty thoroughly by this time, the plan of Chairman Hay of the house committee on military affairs is to federalize the militia to as great an extent as possible, and thereby to make the state troops a reserve for the regular army, instead of instituting a continental army of volunteers, as was and still is the senate plan. Chairman Hay was opposed to a large increase in the regular army, but it is now believed he, his committee with him and also the house, will agree eventually to an increase in the regular army until it shall reach a strength of about 150,000 men. This regular force, supplemented by a largely increased and strengthened militia, will form the main land forces for defense purposes of the United States, provided, of course, that the expected compromise with the senate is reached.

The senate committee on military affairs, of which Senator Chamberlain of Oregon is chairman, has stood for the Garrison plan of a large continental army of volunteers and for an increase in the regular army to a number much greater than that fixed upon by Chairman Hay of the house committee. It seems today as if the outcome will be that the house will yield to the senate in the matter of a considerable increase in the regular army and that the senate will yield to the extent of giving over its continental army and accepting as a substitute therefor a federal militia plan.

Federalized Militia Argument.

There are army officers of high rank who hold that the militia never can be thoroughly federalized. In other words, they believe that all the laws which congress may pass to bring about federalization will not do what they are expected to do, because, as the army men say, the Constitution of the United States stands in the way.

In contravention to the army view, friends of the federalized militia plan say that high legal authorities agree that the United States government, without violating the Constitution, can take over virtually full control of the militia. Moreover, they say that pecuniary aid which will be granted by government to the militia can be withdrawn at any time that the states do not live up to the agreements which the government insists that they shall make, if they are to be the recipients of Uncle Sam's bounty.

Provisions for Officers.

It is believed the number of cadets at West Point will be doubled by the legislation which it is thought the house and senate will agree upon. It is also expected that government aid in the form of money will be given to a state college in each commonwealth for the purpose of instructing young men adequately in military science. It is held that these schools will give young Americans a sufficient military training to enable them to take up the duties of the junior commission grades in the volunteer service of their country in time of trouble.

It is proposed by the house committee, and it seems likely that its plan will enter into the law, that the officers and men who enter the state militia shall serve for six years, three with the colors and three years with the reserves. The equipment, training and discipline of the militia is to be prescribed by congress. Enlistments in the Guard are to be made with the understanding that the president may draft the militia in time of emergency without requisition upon the governors of the states. The training of the militia is to be regulated by the secretary of war and it is said that in view of the contention that governors have the power to muster into the militia, the bill will contain a specific provision doing away with such power.

It is generally agreed by army officers and members of congress that, with the varying views on this federalization militia problem, the thing will have to be tried out before it can be announced as a success.

HAPPENINGS of the week IN MISSOURI

Judge Van Valkenburg in the federal court at Kansas City has appealed to the county judges of St. Clair county and the representatives of creditors of the county for 4 million dollars of litigation. March 24 was set by the judge for all interested parties to appear there and discuss an ending of the fight.

There are no licensed saloons in Rich Hill for the first time in the city's thirty-five years of existence. The city voted "dry" September 1, 1915, and the last license has expired. Rich Hill had six saloons when it voted "dry." Three of the saloon sites now are occupied by other lines of business.

The will of Mrs. Mary A. Wilson, who bequeathed the bulk of her $25,000 estate to the Euclid Avenue Baptist church, St. Louis, was set aside in the circuit court there recently. The suit was brought by Fannie Barth, a niece of Mrs. Wilson, and by two collateral heirs.

The Christian church at Harrisonville was burned the other day. The estimated loss is $10,000.

James and H. M. Harkers, twin brothers of Carthage, the other day celebrated their seventy-sixth birthday anniversary. Both men are in good health. They were born in Peoria, Ill., coming to Carthage in 1871. Both are veterans of the Civil war.

Miss Oda Butler, who was attacked and nearly choked to death by a tramp in her home near Deepwater, has regained consciousness and given a description of her assailant. The sheriff and a detective expect to make an arrest soon.

William Lewis Miller, 102 years old, is dead at his home in Joplin. A week ago he took a long walk, as was his daily custom, but this time a heart attack resulted and he was found exhausted on his doorstep.

According to Mr. Astor, official tester for the Missouri experiment station and the American Jersey cattle club, Oxford Beaus Vixen 291747, a 3-year-old belonging to G. S. Keller of Palmyra, is the champion Jersey cow of the state for the last thirty days. The test began January 18 and in the ensuing thirty days 1,242 pounds of milk, testing 4.76 per cent butter fat, was produced. The production of butter fat for the month was 59.19 pounds, which is equivalent to nearly two and one-half pounds of marketable butter a day.

The Young Men's Democratic club will meet in Columbia on Jefferson day, April 13, instead of at Mexico, on March 3, as had been planned. A fever epidemic in Mexico caused the change in plans.

James Campbell and his wife, both 90 years old, who were stricken with grip at the same time recently, died at almost the same hour. They had been married sixty-eight years.

R. G. Crow, who disappeared from the Pontiac hotel, St. Louis, in December, 1914, returned to his home in Caruthersville the other day. He refused to make a statement. Crow is 32 years old and has a wife and children.

John Hyatt, a veteran contractor, is dead at Sedalia. His last work was done on the new state capital building at Jefferson City, where he represented the Johnson Construction Company.

Independence voted recently to issue bonds for $75,000 for the second high school building of the town. The proposition carried by 429 to 142 votes.

The Mexico health authorities have closed the schools and theaters and prohibited any public gathering until March 7, on account of scarlet fever. Twelve cases are under quarantine.

Roscoe A. Morris, 63 years old, an implement dealer who had lived there thirty-four years, is dead at his home in Savannah.

In a hard fought election Sedalia voters defeated a proposal to adopt commission government by a vote of 1,680 to 1,304. The vote was light. The victory for those opposing the new rule was the result of a combined effort of Republican and Democratic politicians.

A machine gun company of fifty members has been organized at Columbia by E. E. Major, a nephew of Governor Major. The company includes graduates university professors, business men and students on its roll.

Thirty-one horses died in a fire at Brookfield when an old lively barn belonging to J. R. Williamson burned. Twenty-nine of the animals belonged to George Storms, who had bought them preparatory to shipping to the South. Two years ago he lost eleven horses in the same way and both fires are thought to be of incendiary origin.

J. A. Mitchell, for forty years cashier of the Bank of Carthage and a pioneer resident of that section, is dead. He was 79 years old and was reputed to be wealthy.

A petition is being circulated at Joplin asking relief from the inadequate service afforded by the Southwest Missouri Electric Railway Company, an interurban company operating between Carthage, Joplin, Webb City, Carterville, Galena and a dozen smaller towns.

While celebrating his wedding anniversary with the house filled with guests, Seth Lamar, a wealthy farmer near Wallace, Buchanan county, was stricken with heart disease and died. He was 61 years old.

IF BACK HURTS CLEAN KIDNEYS WITH SALTS

Drink Lots of Water and Stop Eating Meat for a While if the Bladder Bother You.

Meat forms uric acid which excites and overworks the kidneys in their efforts to filter it from the system. Regular eaters of meat must flush the kidneys occasionally. You must relieve them like you relieve your bowels; removing all the acids, waste and poison, else you feel a dull misery in the kidney region, sharp pains in the back or sick headache, dizziness, your stomach sour, tongue is coated and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment; the channels often get irritated, obliging you to get up two or three times during the night.

To neutralize these irritating acids and flush out the body's urinous waste get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine and bladder disorders disappear. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys and stop bladder irritation. Jad Salts is inexpensive; harmless and makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which millions of men and women take now and then, thus avoiding serious kidney and bladder diseases.—Adv.

HIS SHARE OF THE HORSE

Interfering Individual Evidently Was Not as Important as He Thought He Was.

A newly admitted member of a big co-operative society boasting sixteen thousand members met one of the society's vans laden with coal, with the driver sitting on the shafts. The new member, full of the importance of belonging to such a big society, considered it his duty to remonstrate with the driver on his want of consideration toward his horse by adding his own weight to the load instead of walking. The fault-finder wound up by saying: "I'm a shareholder in the society, and therefore part owner of your horse and van."

"Shareholder, are you?" responded the coachman, pulling a half out of the horse's tail and handing it to the astonished member, with the remark: "Here's your share of the animal, mister."

He then drove on.

"I continued to use coffee until I was 27, and when I got into office work I began to have nervous spells. Especially after breakfast I was so nervous I could scarcely attend to my correspondence."

"At night, after having had coffee for supper, I could hardly sleep, and on rising in the morning would feel weak and nervous."
